County Draft Board Personnel Announced

FIVE MEN NAMED TO HAVE ROLES IN CONSCRIPTION

Members Elect E. L. Crist As Chairman; Durward Dowden Secretary

GROUP IS REPRESENTATIVE

Advisory Committee, Local Appeal Agent Chosen For Pickaway

The way was cleared Saturday for operation of the Federal Conscription Act in Circleville and Pickaway County when the personnel of the Draft Board, appointed by President Roosevelt, was revealed.

The personnel includes: Emmitt L. Crist, attorney at law, representing the legal profession, chairman.

Durward D. Dowden, vice-president and cashier of the Second National Bank, representing business, secretary.

Dr. John L. Spindler, Ashville, veterinarian, representing agriculture.

Jay L. Clark, superintendent of Ralston-Purina plant, representing labor and war veterans.

George H. Armstrong, Salt Creek Township farmer, representing agriculture.

The board conducted its organization meeting Saturday in the offices of Attorney Crist and announced that permanent offices would be established in the courthouse.

The local board will be represented at a conference in Columbus, Wednesday, October 16, to receive instructions in the Selective Service System in Ohio.

All business concerning the Selective Service Act in the county must be communicated to the local board.

The members received notice of their appointment Friday from Gilson D. Light of Columbus, state director of selective service.

Additional appointments under the Selective Service Act include: Registration Advisory Committee, Charles H. May, Tom O. Gilliland and Robert D. Musser.

Local Appeal Agent, Earl A. Smith.

Presiding judges of the various voting precincts in Circleville and the county will confer Monday evening in the courthouse to determine means of handling the registration.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Practically every married man and others claiming to have dependents will be deferred from actual service under the draft, it was officially revealed today with publication of the questionnaire which will be used to classify the 16,500,000 men who register Wednesday.

A few months ago army officials drew up a tentative questionnaire which asked those claiming (Continued on Page Eight)

Sold By Father

AUTHORITIES of the juvenile detention home at San Jose, Cal., are holding Rachel Steril, above, pending an investigation of a story she told a San Jose court of her being "sold" by her father to a 15-year-old youth. She claims her father "repossessed" her when the youth defaulted on the final payment.

INDUSTRY BOOM BEING NOTED AS DEFENSES GROW

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—A boom in the defense industries today was credited with providing jobs for thousands of Ohioans by the state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

The bureau reported that September job placements in private industry totaled 17,195, a total passed only by the peak of 17,554 last May. The placements represented a 21.7 percent increase over August and a 17.3 percent increase over September of last year.

The army let contracts to Ohio firms totaling $70,322,194 in the last half of September alone, more than half the total for the preceding 90 days.

Defense orders in Ohio since June 13 now total $172,069,587.

GAMBLING CZAR NAMED BY JURY IN TAX EVASION

CHICAGO, Oct. 12—William R. "Big Bill" Johnson, reputed gambling czar of the Chicago area, today was found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the federal government of $1,887,664 in income taxes from 1936 to 1939.

A jury which took the case at 3:33 p. m. yesterday, and deliberated for more than twelve hours, returned the guilty verdict against Johnson and five of his co-defendants. Three other co-defendants were acquitted.

The income on which Johnson was accused of evading taxes, with the aid of the co-defendants, came from Chicago's most elaborate gambling houses, according to the testimony. Assistant U. S. Attorney Earle C. Hurley handled the prosecution.

Found guilty with Johnson were Jack Sommers, manager of the Dev-Lin House; James A. Hartigan, manager of Harlem Stables and Lincoln Tavern; John M. Falangan, manager of a gambling house; William P. Kelly, manager of the "D & D" club; and Stuart Solomon Brown, head of the gambling syndicate's so-called currency exchange.

NAZI AVIATOR, CHASED BY RAF, 'CHUTES TO EARTH

LONDON, Oct. 12—More than 500 persons, including police and military officials, searched the Snowden range in Wales today for a German aviator who parachuted to earth when his machine was attacked by British fighters.

F. D. R. TO SPEAK AT THREE RALLIES IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who is heading the youth group activities of the Democratic National Committee, will fill three Ohio speaking engagements October 17, the State League of Young Democratic Clubs announced today.

He will speak at a noon luncheon in Columbus, at an afternoon meeting on the Ohio State University campus, and in the evening at Mt. Vernon.

RUSSIA BUILDS NEW AIR BASES

Bucharest Hears Of Action On Border; Nazi Forces Start Movement

BUCHAREST, Oct. 12—While war planes roared overhead in perfect formation a delegation of the German general staff arrived in Bucharest this afternoon.

BUCHAREST, Oct. 12—Amid gathering tension resulting from entry of German forces into Romania, reports reached Bucharest today that Soviet Russia is constructing five air bases near the Romanian frontier.

The Russian airbases are being built in Bessarabia, which recently was ceded to the USSR by the Bucharest government, the reports stated. The airports were said to include a large base at Horecea capable of accommodating some 300 warplanes.

(Editor's Note: In Berlin authoritative German quarters stated that the Reich, acting through diplomatic channels, notified Russia in advance of German plans for a military move in Romania, in accordance with the Vienna arbitration agreement.)

It was stated on high authority, meanwhile, that the first detachments of German military "instructors" arrived in Bucharest at noon yesterday, and that air force instructor groups are due today.

The British minister to Bucharest, Sir Reginald Hoare, advised Britons to leave the country immediately. This advice was handed out after 150 Romanian-piloted German and Italian planes flew over the Romanian capital, some of them swooping low over the British legation.

With a formal severance of Anglo-Romanian diplomatic relations expected hourly, part of the British legation staff already was en route out of the country. Some members of the staff went to the Black Sea port of Constantza, where the entire staff, including the minister, are expected to sail Monday for Istanbul.

Sir Reginald conferred with United States Minister Gunther and it was reported arrangements were made for the American legation to look after British interests in Romania.

BODY OF JUDGE, KILLER OF TWO, FOUND IN RIVER

DETROIT, Oct. 12—Sought for 11 days or ever since he assertedly shot three men in his office, two fatally, the body of Wayne County Common Pleas Court Judge Robert E. Sage was found in the Detroit River today off Fighting Island near Grosse Ile. He had taken his own life by drowning.

The widely known jurist had been the object of a widespread search since the night of October 2 when Ralph Nadell, a business associate, was shot and killed instantly, and Alfred Nadell, another associate, suffered gun wounds from which he died. A third associate, Maurice Smiley, is recovering from gunshot wounds.

Bricker, Davey On Hand To Meet Executive, But Ride In Separate Autos

BIG CROWD ON HAND

Youngstown, Akron, Other Centers Greet Chief Executive

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—President Roosevelt arrived in the capital of Ohio, whose 26 electoral votes are being keenly contested, at 9:45 this morning, to spend an hour inspecting Fort Hayes, headquarters of the army's Fifth Corps area.

Waiting to meet the chief executive were Governor John Bricker, running for reelection, and Martin L. Davey, Democratic candidate for governor.

Davey, while governor of Ohio, clashed bitterly with the New Bricker, in his official capacity, rode through the crowded streets of Columbus with the President. Bricker and Davey avoided each other in the train, the governor having stated he would not ride in the same car with his opponent.

Davey was farther back in the procession in his own car, which bore a "Davey" sticker as against "official" stickers on the other cars.

BROKER VICTOR IN CONTEST FOR TOT'S CUSTODY

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Victor in a custody battle that erupted in the supreme court corridors, Robert L. Boyden, dapper young broker, was flying home to Kansas City today with his 20-month-old daughter.

Left in Manhattan was his irate wife, Margaret, who set the sights for the next salvo in the fight.

As Boyden told his story to Justice Carewe, he returned home last August 20 to find his wife and child gone. Detectives hired by Boyden trailed her, and finally caught up with her and the baby, Jacqueline, in a Washington Square apartment.

Queried about this, Mrs. Boyden told the judge: "I was fed up with Kansas City."

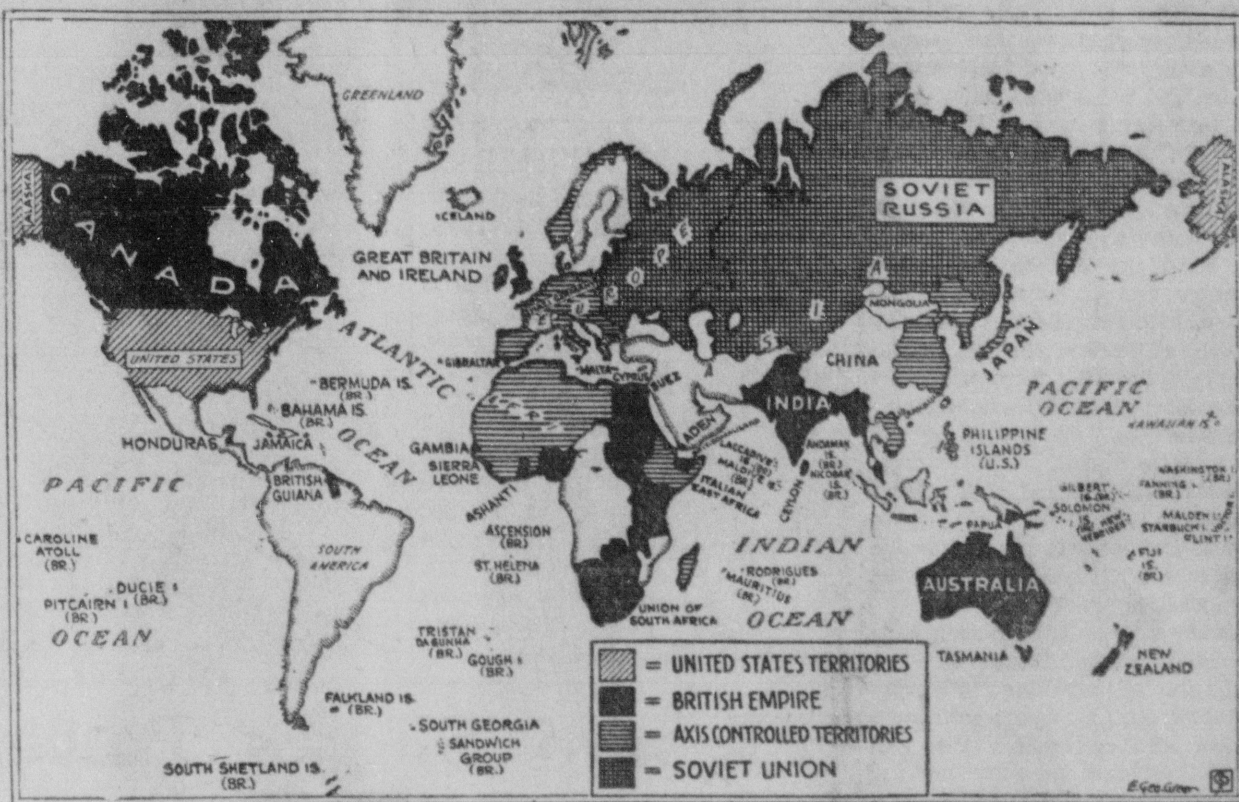

"Enough," said the jurist, "I order the child returned to the father and you can fight the rest of this out back in Kansas City."

As the father carried Jacqueline into the court room, Mrs. Boyden ran after him calling out: "Stop him. Help, kidnaper."

Boyden's mother, Mrs. Dolly Stevens Boyden, intervened, while a process server served the younger woman with papers in a Kansas City divorce.

The battle broke up as each party went separate ways.

Will New Axis Pact Push U. S., Soviet To Alliance?

Agreement Between Washington And Moscow Seen As Necessary To Hold Off Reich

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 12—Shall the United States put into the mothballs its traditional hostility to Soviet Russia as insurance against increasing Axis pressure? Should the American nation make an alliance with the colossal Red army until its own rearmament program begins to turn out the planes, tanks and guns necessary to stem the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo war machine?

That is one of the most important problems that has been bothering the big-wigs of the New Deal in Washington since the Triple Axis lashed out at American assistance to war-wracked Britain. Today the Axis is riding high. Europe and half of China groans under its might.

Almost battered to its knees, England hangs on grimly. And now, Hitler, II Duce and the war-frenzied militarists of Nippon have finally hitched up their belts and told America she is next on the list.

U. S. OPENS WAY FOR RUSSIA TO GET OIL, TOOLS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Two developments today further complicated the already complex chart of Soviet Russia's relations with the United States.

1. U. S. government agencies revealed that two economic favors that Moscow has been seeking here for several months had been granted. While the maritime commission announced that Russia would be allowed to charter approximately 100,000 tons of tankers to transport oil from California to Vladivostok, Col. R. L. Maxwell, defense commission export control officer, raised the bars for $7,000,000 worth of machine tools to leave America for the U. S. S. R.

2. At the same time, however, administration officials, on the basis of reliable reports, found reason to believe that Moscow soon would sign a non-aggression pact with Japan, this country's possible enemy in the Pacific.

While the signing of such a pact would not imply direct Russian help to Japan—and indeed it is understood here that Moscow is reserving the right to continue sending war supplies to China even after such a treaty is concluded—Far Eastern experts pointed out that it probably would aid Tokyo in one sense.

LINER BEING PREPARED FOR EVACUATION VOYAGE

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—The United States liner Washington was being fitted out today for a 12,000 mile voyage to Shanghai to aid in evacuation of 16,000 Americans from the Orient.

The Washington, which is expected to depart next Thursday or Friday, will be equipped with extra bunks to carry about 1,500 passengers, 300 more than her normal capacity.

GUARDSMEN ARE CALLED

The following notice was requested Saturday by National Guard officers: "All members of the National Guard, active or inactive, must report at the Guard armory, East Franklin Street, at 7 a. m., Tuesday, October 15."

ANKARA, Turkey—In direct defiance of the axis powers, the official Turkish radio warned today that "any advance across Turkey and Syria into Egypt" will be met by 2,000,000 bayonets en route.

LONDON — Britain has acted to meet the gathering crisis in Anglo-Romanian relations by freeing all Romanian assets in England, the Daily Mail reported today. (In Bucharest it was reported that the entire staff of the British legation was prepared for imminent departure. Complete severance of Anglo-Romanian diplomatic relations was expected momentarily.)

DOVER, Eng.—A light north-east wind blowing offshore failed to ruffle the Straits of Dover today and the sea remained calm. There were occasional bright intervals when the sun broke through the clouds overhead but a mist limited visibility.

NEW DEAL MUST BE OUSTED, SAYS G. O. P. NOMINEE

WITH WILKIE IN MASSACHUSETTS, Oct. 12—By train and automobile, Wendell Willkie completed his tour of three New England states today and headed for upper New York state to repeat his charges that the New Deal has failed in every respect and must be ousted if democracy is to be preserved.

To the many sins which the Republican presidential candidate has assigned to the New Deal he added last night serious charges against President Roosevelt personally.

The President, he charged, has "seriously delayed the defense program" and he charged also that the military inspection trip on which the President has started is a campaign trip under the guise of a military inspection trip... playing politics with the national defense of the United States.

On the whole that section of New England which saw and heard Willkie received him cordially in most instances and only politely in some but there was a minimum of taunts, jeers, boos or other unfriendly gestures.

The candidate covered only Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, passing up Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire although the first two were the only two states in the entire nation which voted Republican in 1936.

BERLIN CLAIMS FOE'S TORPEDO BOATS DAMAGED

Battle Takes Place Off Isle Of Wight, Reich Spokesmen Report

NEW AIR RAIDS STAGED

London Admits Many Dead As Nine Bombs Fall On Metropolitan Area

BERLIN, Oct. 12—Three British steamers were sunk and three others were badly damaged as the result of submarine and plane attacks on convoys off the coasts of England, the German high command claimed today.

BERLIN, Oct. 12 — A heavy engagement between a German U-boat squadron and British naval forces was announced officially today. A German submarine flotilla, it was stated, carried out a sortie into waters around the Isle of Wight from an unidentified continental port and engaged in battle with British naval forces near the island.

(Editor's Note: The Isle of Wight is situated off the south coast of England below the great port of Southampton.)

Results of the battle are not yet fully known, the announcement said, but preliminary reports indicated that some British destroyers and torpedo boats had been torpedoed by the Nazi U-boats.

The encounter was the first concentrated engagement known to have occurred between a German U-boat flotilla and British naval units.

New Raids Start

Simultaneously it was announced that strong squadrons of German bombers took off today for fresh raids against London, southern England and the midlands after the German air force carried out reconnaissance flights at dawn.

The reconnoitering expeditions followed German bombing attacks during the night against London, Liverpool and Manchester.

The German announcement said the Canada and Alexandria docks at Liverpool were heavily bombed and that widespread fires resulted from direct hits on large refrigerating stores.

It was claimed that an extensive conflagration was caused in London, including a blaze in the center of the city which helped the German pilots find their targets.

Gasworks at Manchester and nearby troop camps were bombed, the announcement stated, and two steamers, one of 8,000 tons and the other of 6,000 tons, were disabled in a bombing raid on a shipping convoy.

The Germans also claimed that a "small-scale RAF attempt to raid Berlin again was frustrated during the night."

One town in western Germany was bombed, this statement said, (Continued on Page Eight)

FLAMES DESTROY LUMBER COMPANY AT PAULDING, O.

PAULDING, Oct. 12—Fire of unknown origin early today destroyed the Paulding Lumber Company yards, the New York Central Railroad station, and two railroad cars. Damage was estimated at $60,000.

FLYING CADETS GROW

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—September enrollments in the army's flying cadet service totaled 253, more than double the quota for the fifth corps area, Col. S. G. Talbot, corps area adjutant general, announced today. The area comprises Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky.

Red And Black, Groveport Play 6 To 6 Deadlock

Tigers Score On Pass Play, But Invaders Tie It Up In Final Period After Many Aerials Keep Locals Against Wall

By Austin Showman

Circleville football fans saw the Tiger team score its first touchdown of the season Friday night, as it battled out a six to six tie against Groveport on the Circleville football field.

The game kept fans on the edge of their seats through the final moments of play as both teams tried to break the deadlock with a last minute tally.

The Tiger eleven dominated the field during the first period as Circleville backs Kline, Moon, Eby and Geib plowed through a leaky Groveport line for substantial gains.

The Tiger score came after three minutes of play in the second quarter after Fullback Kline broke through the Groveport defense and to the 25-yard line. After a loss of two yards on the next play, Left End Woods stood in the end zone to nab a pass from Geib for the first score of the game, and Circleville's first tally of the season. An attempted plunge off-tackle failed to produce the extra point.

Final moments of the first half found Groveport's Right Halfback Hinton scoring wide around Circleville ends for gains.

Groveport kicked to Circleville as the second half opened. Kline, Moon and Geib carried the ball for three successive gains before Kline's fumble was recovered by Left Guard Huffman of Groveport on the Circleville 30. Three plays failed to bring Groveport sufficient yardage for a first down and on the next play Halfback Huffman was smothered by a horde of Tiger men as he attempted to pass, giving Circleville the ball.

Moon's quick kick drove Grove-

MUSTANGS FAVORED

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12—Installed at 2 to 1 favorites, Southern Methodist's Mustangs today donned their "air togs" to do battle with a de-emphasized, but nonetheless surprising Pitt Panther. Some 35,000 fans were expected for the game in Pitt stadium. The southerners have already meted out defeats of 9 to 6 to UCLA at Los Angeles and 20 to 7 to North Texas State Teachers at Dallas, and hope to chalk up their third victory of the season today. Pitt, however, has only been defeated by Ohio State and last week-end upset Missouri, 19 to 13.

Hillsboro Shows Power In Whipping Wilmington

Hillsboro's Indians became a power in the South Central Ohio League Friday evening by defeating Wilmington 26 to 6 on the Hillsboro lot with 1,500 fans circling the field. The victory was Hillsboro's first over Wilmington since 1930.

The Indians are now in first place alone, since Washington C. H. and Greenfield McClain tied in a 6-all ball game. The Blue Lions and the McClain crew have each won one game and tied one.

HARMON VS. HARVARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 12—Topped by the fleet Tommy Harmon, who cut a swath across both California and Michigan State on successive Saturdays, Michigan's powerful football forces invaded Cambridge today to meet an underdog Harvard eleven. More than 40,000 spectators are expected to jam the stadium to watch Harmon spearhead the Wolverines' attack which has brought two straight victories. High-scoring Tommy has accumulated 49 points in two starts as a result of seven touchdowns and seven conversions against California and Michigan State. Michigan has been installed as a 5 to 1 favorite.

Light-weight two-piece suits are popular this summer in Wall Street, according to a style writer. Hey, what's become of the "vested interests"?

The try for extra point brought thrills. Newland ran through tackle for the point, but his team was called offside and penalized five yards. On the next play Newland passed to Grate, but the halfback was smeared before he could cross the goal.

Circleville was not scheduled in the league this week, playing Groveport a 6-6 tie in a non-league joust.

STUDENT PRINCE TEAM TO INVADE CAPITAL'S FIELD

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—Leadership in the Ohio Conference will be at stake this afternoon when the Capital University Lutherans tangle with Heidelberg's Tri-Color in the newly erected Capital Stadium before a capacity crowd.

The game is one of 15 on the Ohio program today.

Baldwin-Wallace arose in all its might last night to crush John Carroll, 32 to 0 before 6,000 fans in the opening Big Four opener for both teams. The Streaks never had a chance and registered but one first down.

In an Ohio Conference game played at Findlay, the Bowling Green State University Falcons rallied in the fourth period to score a touchdown and safety to defeat the Findlay Oilers, 14 to 7. Fullback Dewey Johnson scored the winning touchdown from the one-yard line after a 66-yard drive. Capt. Steve Brudzinski,

Ohio State Team Tangles With Northwestern In Important Joust

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 12—Determined to shake the second-half jinx which almost wrecked its championship aspirations last week, the Ohio State football juggernaut today was to clash with Northwestern before 40,000 fans in the Bucks' only appearance in the Chicago area this season.

Although a heavy favorite in early season betting, the Scarlet Scourge rated no better than an even choice following last Saturday's battles. Purdue almost faded the Scarlet into a wishy-washy pink as the Bucks counted their winning three markers in the final 19 seconds of play, while Northwestern surprised everyone by a resounding 40 to 0 rout of Syracuse.

The Scarlet will outweigh Northwestern about 15 pounds to the man on the line, but Pittsburgh and Purdue proved that the line can be cracked, while State's pass defense has been notoriously weak. Northwestern, on the other hand, exhibited everything in its annihilation of Syracuse, including a "new" Bill DeCorrevont, who failed to live up to expectations last year but apparently has clicked this season. Bill will be aided and abetted in his attempted mayhem by such stalwarts as Don Clawson, hard-driving Wildcat fullback, Ollie Hahenstien, who pushes DeCorrevont for his left half position, and other game-breaking backs.

State's forces will be headed by Don "Great" Scott, named as the back of the year, Capt. Jim Langhurst, Dick Fisher, Jimmy Strausbaugh, out with an injury in Ohio State's first two games, and John Kincaide.

Fisher has shown so well against Pitt and Purdue that he may get the starting assignment over Strausbaugh, who is still ailing slightly and may not be called upon unless badly needed.

A sideshow feature of the tilt will be the appearance of brothers on opposite teams. Charles Horvath is a Northwestern end while Leslie Horvath is a Buckeye back. They hail from Cleveland.

It will be the 18th clash between the teams since they first met in 1913, the year the Bucks joined the Western Conference. Ohio State has won 12 of the contests, with one encounter ending in a scoreless tie. Northwestern had defeated the Bucks only once in the last five years.

The probable starting lineup:

Northwestern Pos.	Ohio State
Smith	LE	Anderson
Bauman	LT	Daniell
Lokane	LG	Bruckner
Hiemenz	C	White
Zorich	RG	Nosker
Aarts	RT	Maag
Buthers	RE	Clair
Richards (c)	QB	Scott
De Correvont	LH	Fisher
Keppard	RH	Kinkade
Clawson	FB	Langhurst (c)

Officials—Referee, Frank Lane (Cincinnati); umpire, A. A. Schabinger (Springfield); field judge, Fred Gardner (Cornell); head linesman, Lloyd Larson (Wisconsin).

DUQUESNE TOPS, 27-21

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12—The Duquesne Dukes had a 27-21 victory over South Carolina's Gamecocks today, but only after the visiting southerners had come within minutes and scant yards of breaking their host team's two-year winning record. Only 8,701 persons witnessed the game in Forbes Field.

Four Grid Stars Nearly Certain To Rate Honors

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—With football rolling through its second big week end of the season, this is as good a time as any to train the glasses on the nation's big battle pits for a slant at the all-America candidates who are scampering in the general direction of the mythical elevens to be picked, as usual, by everybody at the end of the year.

Some good men will be left off when the final roll is called. They always are. Every season there are vigorous young gents lugging that leather for little fresh water schools that can't ever hit the big headlines, and they are overlooked entirely or shunted aside to make room for the widely publicized stars who got their stripes in major competition.

But not many real good ball players will be missed. The college publicity departments see to that. Coaches, officials and the newspaper fellows themselves keep an eye on everybody that even remotely resembles a stand-out.

By way of starting this season's confusion we will make four quick stabs and wager they will be picked at the end of this season. We would almost bet that without fail they will make a majority of first teams, unless injury or an unlikely slump overtakes them. This is almost a cinch proposition, for our four guys made most of the teams last season when they were juniors.

So start watching Bob Sufbridge, Tennessee guard; Nick Draho, Cornell tackle, and Tom Harmon, of Michigan, and John Kimbrough, of Texas A. and M., a pair of gents who carry the mail.

Harmon can't miss unanimous choice, if he keeps going as he has started for Michigan. He has been terrific so far, with stark, cold figures in the scoring column to back up his candidacy. Some of the rest are similarly bolstered.

Just a few of the backs who will bear watching are De Correvont, of Northwestern; Foxx, of Tennessee; Christman, of Missouri; Piepul, of Notre Dame; Franck, of Minnesota; Scott, of Ohio State; Rohrig, of Nebraska; McAdams, of Washington; and Johnston, among others, at Southern Methodist, and Crain, of Texas.

Linemen from end to end include Ison, of Georgia Tech, Ran-

Two Circleville Churches Arrange Rally Day Exercises for Sunday

First United Brethren
And Presbyterian To Conduct Services

Two Circleville churches, the First United Brethren and the First Presbyterian, are planning rally day services for Sunday morning.

At the First United Brethren Church, the program will be under the direction of Miss Lucile Kirkwood, young people's director. Young people of the church will have charge of the programs for the Sunday school and morning worship sessions. The invocation for the worship period will be given by Betty Jane May, and Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick will read the scripture lesson. Blenn Cook will give the morning prayer and Miss Kirkwood the offertory prayer.

During the program, the pastor, the Rev. A. N. Gruesser, will preach on "The Royal Family" and the choir under the direction of Charles Kirkpatrick, will sing "The Light of the World," by Ira B. Wilson. Miss Lucile May will preside at the organ.

Dr. F. C. Schaeffer, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school, has arranged a special rally day program for the Sunday school hour. Promotion will be observed in the various classes. During the program Franklin Price will sing a solo and Miss Elizabeth Downing will play a piano solo.

In the worship period beginning at 10:30 a. m. a "Go to Church" band will be formed, with boys and girls signing enrollment pledges showing their desire to attend worship services until June.

Those who have a perfect attendance record will be rewarded.

The Boyhood of Jesus

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Luke 2.

By Alfred J. Buescher

The inn at Bethlehem was not an hotel, but a khan, or enclosed courtyard with recesses for resting or sleeping. It was crowded when Joseph and Mary came to Bethlehem, so they took refuge in a stable, where Jesus was born.

The baby was taken, after some days, to the temple at Jerusalem to be "presented to the Lord," and here Simeon, a just and devout man, upon whom was the Holy Ghost, took Him in his arms and blessed God.

There was also at the temple a very old woman named Anna, a widow and a prophetess, exceedingly devout, who likewise recognized the Babe as the Lord, and gave thanks to God, and then told everyone about Him.

After Joseph and Mary had performed all things according to the law, they returned to Nazareth, and "the child waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom," with the grace of God upon Him. (GOLDEN TEXT—Luke 2:52.)

the Walnut School Band. The principal purpose of the assembly meeting was to get the students interested in the various high school clubs. Mr. Cockerill introduced the presidents of the clubs and each president told the purpose of his club and his plans for this year. Then the assembly sang "God Bless America" and saluted the Flag. The program ended with another selection by the band.

Civics
We have been watching the campaign a lot during the first six weeks of school. We now have the class divided into Republic and Democrat committees. These two committees are to find all the campaign material they can and then, later, the class will be the judge as to which committee has the best bulletin board.

We also have been studying the Congressional functions in our text book.

Fifth Grade
We have been studying the geography and the history of Ohio and are now taking six weeks tests.

The boys and girls have decorated the room in honor of Columbus Day. Now we are working on posters advertising the Pumpkin Show.

Boys' Athletic Association

The Boys' Athletic Association of Walnut Township High School held its first meeting of the 1940-41 school year Wednesday. John Rawn, the athletic director, took charge until a new president was elected. The association elected the following officers:

President, Weimer Perrill.
Vice-President, Bill Wharton.
Secretary - Treasurer, Leslie Cook.

After the election the new president took charge and a regular business meeting was held. The boys decided on their dues for the new year and also appointed a committee to plan a Halloween Party.

Band
Our newly organized Thirty-Eight piece band is drilling and preparing to play at Circleville, Thursday night, in the Pumpkin Show Parade.

Girls' Athletic Association
The Girls Athletic Association held a wiener roast last Monday evening at Hedges' woods.

They started on a hike at four o'clock and reached the woods at five thirty. Later that evening they hiked back to the schoolhouse where they played games in the auditorium.

Assembly
Assembly for the high school was held Thursday. The program opened with the entire assembly singing "America the Beautiful." Following this was a selection by

MONROE SCHOOL NEWS

Several pupils from Miss Hana-walt's room made posters for the Pumpkin Show.

Jo Ann Carpenter, Wanda Lee Grimsley, Janice List and Elinor Stage have decided to cultivate flowers. They are arranging "Old Hen and Chickens" in a nail keg.

Arthur Massie had the misfortune of being kicked by a pony.

There is a new boy in the fourth grade. His name is Dick Moore who previously attended Williamsport school.

The fourth grade boys have been working very hard to get a library corner fixed in Mrs. Kegg's room. Robert McCafferty, Charles Terflinger, Eugene Tobin and Dale Timmons have brought in orange crates for the shelves. They are painting them light green.

The orchestra is proud that there are around 21 members this year.

The Trombone section played several selections for the School and Community Club Thursday evening.

Recently the orchestra members elected officers and they are: President, Norma Snyder; vice president, Ruby Neff; secretary-treasurer, Janice Liston; and chairman of publicity, Mary Catherine Dick.

The Junior Orchestra consisting of eleven members are getting a fine start.

First and Second Grades

This room now has an enrollment of thirty-four. Fourteen in the first and twenty in the second grade.

Helen Moore came back to us in the second grade this week, from Richmond, Ohio. She was with us last year in the first grade for the first semester. All the children were glad to see Helen.

This room is very busy with its reading activities, art work, music, spelling, writing and arithmetic.

Attendance, so far, has been excellent in grades one and two. We are hoping this good attendance continues throughout the year.

The Eighth Grade Class in Home Economics have been devoting one period a week to darning and one double period one day a week to food preparation. After a period of study in egg cookery the following preparations were made, Egg Nog, Eggs Ala King, Eggs Goldenrod, Eggs in Bacon Rings, Baked Custard, Carmel Custard, Banana Custard.

The Seventh Grade Girls are meeting one period twice a week. They have been darning and learning simple stitches. As they accomplish these skills they will hem towels for the Home Economics Department. Joan Dunn is the only one who has started a towel.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round
BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN
BRASS RING TO ROCKEFELLER
WASHINGTON—When Harry Hopkins first proposed that Nelson Rockefeller be appointed coordinator of Latin American affairs of the National Defense Commission, there arose a mighty howl from the State Department.
Mr. Rockefeller, the State Department claimed, smelled too much of oil. His grandfather's and his father's oil companies had been down in Latin America battling the Mexican government, and the Bolivian and Colombian governments. So, the State Department argued, young Rockefeller would begin his job with two strikes against him.
The White House, concerned over these arguments, held up the Rockefeller appointment for approximately three months; finally bowed to the persuasive influence of Harry Hopkins and appointed the young millionaire anyway. Since then two things have happened:
1. The State Department has gone its own polite and dignified way, ignoring whenever possible the existence of anyone named Rockefeller.
2. The refreshing Mr. Rockefeller seems to have justified all that Harry Hopkins ever said about him by unobtrusively but energetically making good. In the short time he has been functioning under the long-winded title of "Coordinator of Commercial and Cultural Relations between the American Republics" he has really breathed new life into one of the most important fields of American foreign affairs.

GOVERNMENT
OUR presidential campaign and the subsidiary campaigns now in progress doubtless puzzle the "authoritarian" nations. To them it is a sign of weakness for a government or party to go to the people for authority and let everybody have his say. The Strong Man is their ideal. He is expected to make his own platform and elect or re-elect himself, and prove his strength by kicking the people around and shooting or imprisoning those who have the nerve to disagree with him.
So we must seem like a lot of weak sisters here now, with a presidential candidate publicly opposing the head of the government and getting away with it, and rival political meetings held all over the country by the ruling party and the opposition party, without any shooting or wholesale imprisonment, and indeed for the most part with good nature.
Really, what could a loyal follower of Hitler or Mussolini or Stalin do but despise such a spiritless lot of people, who operate their government as if it were a ball game, with set rules and a fair chance for both sides, and immunity instead of death for the losers?
Maybe we're just decadent. Still, we've lasted quite a while by following this sporting procedure, far longer than any of the dictatorship governments. And we've done pretty well for ourselves, by any standard. And we have an idea that the capital at Washington will still stand, and the government will observe the Constitution, and life and work will go about as usual, no matter which side wins. We may change men or methods, but not basic principles.

USED CAR WARRANTY
MEMBERS of the Cleveland Automotive Trade Association have adopted a standard used car warranty. The purpose of it is to provide a uniform guarantee for used cars; to eliminate misunderstandings which sometimes occur as to verbal agreements; to build and increase public good will and confidence in used cars.
There is also an incidental aim, to provide the Cleveland Better Business Bureau with a definite yardstick for all warranties in the area. Having that yardstick, they can better meet and adjust complaints of car buyers.
The warranty provides a clear statement as to what the buyer gets with his car and what he does not get. He knows, in black and white, before he makes a

RADIO CITY EXECUTIVE
To get the complete picture, you have to know a bit more about young Mr. Rockefeller. The woods are full of Rockefellers. This particular one is 32 years old, the second son of John D., Jr. He has five children, including twins, and sometimes is described as the Rockefeller who has taken most interest in Radio City (Rockefeller Center), of which he is a director, and also helped to build up the Museum of Modern Art.
But in Latin America, young Rockefeller had carved out a unique distinction even before he accepted his present post on the Defense Commission. He had gone down to Venezuela in connection with his family's oil companies, and had become impressed with the idea that American business had to be more than a leech industry—had to do more than drill wells and suck oil out of the ground.
Furthermore, and particularly in Venezuela, he saw that after that country had exhausted the one commodity upon payment, just where he stands, what are his rights and his duties. The "new car guarantee" used by most dealers has long done that for new cars, but buying the used car was often buying a pig in a poke. This warranty protects buyer and seller both. It is worth investigation by all used car dealers in communities which have not adopted similar forms of agreement.

WORLD AT A GLANCE
—By Charles P. Stewart
FOLLOWING conclusion of the German-Italian-Japanese pact, the state department in Washington is considering the possible necessity of evacuating about 5,000 Americans from Shanghai, in view of the danger they'll be in if the Mikado undertakes a complete grab of this supremely important port on the Chinese coast.
It's a suggestion well calculated to make any Yankee, who knows something of the Shanghai background, exceedingly hot under the collar.
The foreign city of Shanghai doesn't belong to China. It's extraterritorial. The United States owns an undivided interest in it, along with other overseas powers. Although it's undivided, it's as much ours as our 100 percent interest in Honolulu is — or San Francisco or Chicago or any other place over which the Stars and Stripes float.
We have our own American court in Shanghai, our own post office, our own bank and a lot of miscellaneous businesses. Our marines do part of the International Settlement's police duties. If, for instance, a Shanghai Englishman disturbs the peace and one of our patrols, happening to be on the job right there, arrests him, it immediately turns him over to the English local authorities to deal with. An English copper can pinch a lawbreaking American in an emergency, but he's promptly surrendered to our consular officials, to be attended to as they see fit. It isn't decided that a Jap policeman is entitled temporarily to restrain

DIET AND HEALTH
Vitamins and Health
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Experimental research in the vitamins is a fascinating subject for the biologist. By varying the diet of certain animals he can produce conditions that are as much a surprise to him as anybody else. He cannot predict the results he is going to have.
I recently visited a busy experimental laboratory in one of our large universities where a number of important discoveries have been made. A new experiment was in progress and a totally surprising result was at hand.
Some rats had been fed on a diet from which had been removed part of the Vitamin B factor. Never mind which one it was. There are already six or eight—maybe by the time this is read ten, Vitamin B factors. This was a new one. The vitamin researchers have to be fine food chemists and the most astonishing thing to an outsider like me is to see the way they juggle organic compounds around. So the clever chemist had jugged the Vitamin B complex around and had produced a food that had everything in it except one little thing.
White Streak Produced
Then they fed this food to some litters of young rats. When the rats grew up they were perfect except that each had a streak of white hair down the back. They would normally have been ordinary black rats, but this streak of white hair extended from the nape of the neck over the back and spread out in a pattern over the shoulder and hips, in the rough outline of a bear skin rug (a bear skin rug without a head, if you see what I mean).
Now the uncanny thing to me about all this was that every animal had the same area turned white. Practically exactly the same individual hairs were affected. The hair on the head, on the legs and belly was normal; white only down the back.
Speculations Too Hasty
The premature graying factor! Of course, the mind naturally jumps toward applying this to man. Nobody yet knows what causes premature graying in hair or in fact any kind of graying. So maybe a person becomes prematurely gray because he lacks something in his diet. Maybe premature graying could be prevented by eating a great deal of this factor. Maybe the Prisoner of Chillon had a great deal taken out of his diet overnight.

But such speculations are too hasty. In the first place, you have to begin early. These rats were fed on this arranged diet practically from birth. In the second place, it would be very difficult to arrange such a diet for a human: premature graying in humans is probably hereditary though perhaps due to inability of the body to utilize this food factor. And, lastly, man is not as easily influenced as some animals. It is not as easy to produce variations in him as it is, for instance, in goldfish and dogs and butterflies.
The application of vitamin research to human conditions is not always immediate. It is a subject of immense potentialities for the practical results of which we must patiently wait.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A. J. C.:—"I am wondering if this is any cause for alarm: during the hot weather my feet, ankles and legs swell considerably—my ankles about an inch all around."
Answer—There is no reason why hot weather should cause such a swelling in the ankles. It is true in hot weather the feet swell somewhat from superficial congestion, but what you describe is too much for simple hot weather to be a factor. The commonest cause of such a condition is varicose veins.
K. L.:—"Is evaporated milk with water added as healthy for a child as fresh bottled milk?"
Answer—Yes, authorities on child feeding agree. Evaporated milk is simply good whole milk that is submitted to a process whereby half the water of the milk is removed. The milk used is of the best quality. When the water content is restored, the mixture is like good grade whole milk. In fact, the process makes it a little easier of digestion.

BEFORE THE BLITZKRIEG
by RUPERT GRAYSON
CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR
THE DAY passed slowly and uncomfortably. Hunger was merely annoying—they managed to stave off the worst pangs with their slender rations of chocolate and biscuit. But it was a hot day, and the wind blew dust into their shelter, so that the thirst became a torture. They took turns on watch at the doorway, the others lying down and resting, or talking desultorily. Gun took the opportunity of telling Tommy Hazeldene the full strength of the plot to bomb London and Berlin, and so rig the markets. As he had expected, this infuriated Tommy, who afterward spent his time squatting behind the sandbags, and sniping at the enemy whenever he caught a glimpse of a head or limb. This did little damage, but it seemed to afford Tommy a sort of gloomy satisfaction.
Gun spent most of the afternoon carefully examining the papers he had taken from Trent's office. He had a long talk with Coral about what she knew of the gang and its organization, and particularly of the private air station near Cannes.
At the end of it all he heaved a long sigh.
"It's damned hard lines, really," he complained. "Because, if we could once get away from here, and leave these devils stranded, I believe I could scoop the whole bunch in, in about three days."
"Don't you think there's a chance of our getting away?" Coral asked, a trifle plaintively.
Gun shrugged.
"Just a chance. Like the mariners of old, our fate depends entirely on the wind. If that changes . . ."
"Then?" Coral asked, eagerly.
"You'll see—if it happens. If not, no need to torture with the thought of it."
"And if it doesn't happen?" Gun shrugged hopelessly.
"It may comfort you, in view of what may happen, to know that the dear Otto suggested that he was not going to kill you—at once. But he'd make you wish he had. You know a fate worse than death," he laughed.
Coral smiled without mirth.
"Well, he'll be unlucky. I still have that little pistol of yours."
"No need to worry," Gun put in grimly. "You won't." He waved his hand to the piled-up cases of explosives behind them. At the last minute I propose to pull the pin out of a Mills bomb and drop it behind those. That ought to blow at least half of them to where they really belong—as well as robbing them of their precious munitions."
"And us?"
"Us? Oh, of course, we shall go too. It'll be a quick finish, that's one thing."
"So we're bound to win in the end," said Coral, paling a little, but faintly smiling.
"This girl's got courage!" was Gun's inward comment.
Time dragged on. Towards the end of the afternoon the wind dropped completely. This increased the heat, and it increased the thirst from which they were all suffering, but to Gun in brought a faint gleam of hope. At sundown the wind would rise again—but from which direction?
Curious to think how life and death hung on the answer to that question.
None of them complained aloud. Tommy Hazeldene, as by the sandbags, glowering with slightly bloodshot eyes over the enemy shelters. He held his rifle ready, and occasionally licked his dry lips with a dry tongue.
Coral Merriew sat to the left of him, sheltered from the sun, and

D. A. R. Unit Observes Golden Jubilee Event

Historical Topics Discussed At Meeting

Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, joined with the other chapters of the United States in celebrating the Golden Jubilee anniversary Friday, the meeting being held at the home of Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger, East Main Street. The meeting originally planned to hear the nation wide broadcast of Mrs. Henry M. Roberts, Jr., president national, followed her address which was set forward from the original time. The historical background of the D.A.R. was reviewed in excellent articles read by Mrs. Lee Shaner, and Mrs. Helen Black Anderson.

Mrs. Shaner read an interesting article from the Ohio D.A.R. News concerning Hannah Arnett showing her eloquence and faith and explaining her part in swaying the men gathered in her home to consider the amnesty of King George III offered during the memorable winter of 1776.

Mrs. Anderson read "Four Fostering Mothers" an excellent story of the early lives of four pioneer women.

Mrs. C. C. Watts, regent, presided during the ritualistic opening of chapter and conducted the business meeting. The Ellis Island Work under the chairmanship of Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker of Williamsport was presented and its needs discussed. Mrs. Watts took charge of this in the absence of the chairman, and also discussed the work of the approved schools.

Mrs. Mack, secretary, and Mrs. George E. Gerhardt, treasurer, reported.

The program theme was "Music", Mrs. Martin Cromley presenting a paper discussing women composers and illustrating their points with instrumental and vocal selections by Mrs. Gordon Dunkel, violinist of New Holland, with Mrs. John Dick of the same community as her accompanist, Mrs. Paul Cromley and Mrs. Ralph S. Hosler, vocalists of Ashville, for whom Mrs. Cromley herself played the accompaniments.

Before opening her talk Mrs. Cromley presented Mrs. Dunkel in two selections, "La Fille Aux Cheveux De Lin", C. Debussy, and "Perpetual Motion" by Bohn. The other lovely solos were "Irish Love Song", by Margaret Lang, Mrs. Paul Cromley; "The Morning Wind", Gena Branscombe, Mrs. Cromley; "Don't You Listen", Carrie Jacobs Bond, Mrs. Hosler; "The Big Brown Bear", Mana Zuka, Mrs. Cromley; "Dawn", Pearl Curran, Mrs. Hosler; "Her Prayer", Lorie King Ewing, Mrs. Dunkel; "In My Garden", Isabelle Firestone, Mrs. Hosler.

In concluding her talk Mrs. Cromley said "It may not be amiss to express the wish that the compositions of women composers may be heard more frequently in the future than they are heard at present, for, according to Nero, "Music unheard is valueless."

After the session adjourned, the members and guests were invited to the dining room where tea was served. On a table at the side of the room was a large anniversary cake with two crystal candelabra with burning yellow tapers guarding it. This was cut and served by Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker, organizing regent of the Pickaway Plains Chapter.

The tea table, covered with a beautifully embroidered cloth with insets of exquisite lace, was centered with an unusually large yellow candle on a silver tray, yellow marigolds and glossy green leaves forming the garland surrounding it. Fiftieth anniversary nut cups were arranged around this. Mrs. C. C. Watts, regent, and Mrs. Shaner, vice regent, presided at the silver coffee and tea services at either end.

Vases of gorgeous dahlias were the decorations of the living room, pedestal baskets of large yellow chrysanthemums being used in the other rooms.

Mrs. Terwilliger was assisted by Mrs. Noah Warner, Mrs. Charles Gusman, Mrs. Helen Black An-

Mrs. Hedges Hostess

Fall flowers in lovely shades of yellow were used in the rooms of her home when Mrs. B. T. Hedges of North Pickaway Street entertained the members of her bridge club and additional guests Friday at an evening bridge party. The affair honored Mrs. Harold Elkins of Oswego, N. Y., who has been a guest in the Hedges home for the last four weeks.

Mrs. W. Emerson Downing and Mrs. John Boggs carried home the club prizes when tallies were compared after the five rounds of progressive contract bridge. Mrs. H. P. Folsom, Mrs. Robert L. Brehmer and Miss Florence Dunton carried home lovely favors for scores in the guest group. Mrs. Elkins received a choice gift.

Mrs. Hedges concluded the evening with a delightful lunch served at the card tables.

Those present were Mrs. R. R. Bales, Mrs. L. M. Mader, Mrs. George Littleton, Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. John Boggs, Mrs. Glenn I. Business Women's Club

Mrs. E. R. Brooks of Jackson Township sang "God Bless America" for the closing number of the program at the Public Relations dinner Thursday at the Wardell party home. Members and guests joined with her in singing the last chorus. Mrs. Harriett Henness played her piano accompaniment.

Democratic Meeting

Mrs. Martha Matthews of Columbus gave an excellent party talk Friday before members of the Federated club of Pickaway County Democratic Women at the Democratic headquarters, South Court Street. More than 55 members of the club and women guests were joined for the occasion by a large number of interested men including candidates for state and county offices.

Mrs. Matthews presented interesting facts concerning state and national issues during the Democratic administrations and urged the women of the county to work unceasingly to get the non-voters to the polls at the coming elections.

After the meeting was opened by Mrs. Orion King, club president, and routine business transacted, Carl Leist, chairman of the Pickaway County Executive committee, outlined the campaign work for women.

Harold K. Claypool, candidate for reelection to the United States Senate, and Harry B. Welch, candidate for state representative, spoke briefly while the county candidates acknowledged introductions. Among these were A. L. Wilder, Wayne Hoover, Henry McCrady, George E. Gearhardt and Mrs. Florence Campbell.

American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary will have a covered dish lunch Monday following the installation ceremonies in the Post room, Memorial Hall.

Columbus Presbyterian

The First Presbyterian Church of Circleville entertained the annual meeting of District Three of the Columbus Presbyterian society Friday with Mrs. P. S. Hazlett of Bremen, president of the district, presiding at the morning and afternoon sessions. The theme for the meeting was "Living and Proclaiming Jesus' Way of Life. Those are come to the Kingdom for such a time as this."

Mrs. Bernard E. Leete of Chillicothe presented the worship service for the morning in which she used Glenn Clarke's book, "I Shall Live Mine Eyes." A report of the Synodical meeting at Wooster followed, this being given by Mrs. W. H. Kight, a presbyterial secretary of Columbus. During a part of the program called "Morning Mail", various reports of other presbyterial officers were heard. Mrs. Harry Laughridge, president of the Columbus Presbyterial, was among those speaking. The program of the morning included a soprano solo by Mrs. Clark Will, "My Redeemer and My Lord." Mrs. B. F. Paist of Lancaster closed the session with a prayer for missionaries.

At noon, luncheon was served by the Ladies' Aid to the women of the meeting and additional members of the church.

During roll call at the beginning of the afternoon session, approximately 75 responded from the churches at Amanda, Bremen, Chillicothe, Kingston, Lancaster, North Fork, West Rushville and Circleville. An interesting report of the condition of the Sidney Home for the Aged was given by Mrs. R. L. Hayes.

The guest speaker of the afternoon was Miss Irene MacDowell, who is a worker in the most recent Presbyterian missionary project in Ohio. This work is being carried on among the underprivileged people of the Hocking Valley. In a brief way, Miss MacDowell traced the development of this project and described the results of this endeavor. At the conclusion of this address, Mrs. Will and Franklin Price sang a duet, "The Lord is My Light." Miss Abbe Mills Clarke played the accompaniments for the musical numbers.

Among the guests at the meeting were Mrs. Emma Woodside a returned missionary from Africa, who is spending the winter in Circleville, and Miss Ottora Horn returned from Syria who now resides in Columbus.

Washington Grange

An excellent program on "Safety" was arranged by Mrs. M. M. Bowman, lecturer of Washington Grange, and presented at the Friday session in the Washington School auditorium before more than 45 grangers.

After group singing, Mrs. M. J. Valentine opened the program with the poem "If Everybody Could." Billy Stout's recitation was entitled "Safety Rules." Members of the juvenile grange presented the playlet, "The Safety Train." The grangers participated in a contest, "Rules for Safety", the program continuing with a discussion, "What can the grange do to prevent rural accidents at home or on the highway."

Mrs. Harry Rife sang "In the Garden" for the closing number.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Leist of West Main Street are spending Saturday at Evanston, Ill., where they planned to attend the football game.

Mrs. Russell Heffner of Wayne Township was a Friday visitor in Circleville.

Personals

Miss Evelyn Wolfe and Miss Adamae Gardner of Circleville will spend the week end in Dayton, Miss Wolfe visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Schlamb while Miss Gardner will be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gardner, formerly of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eymann of Cleveland have returned home after a brief visit with Miss Anna Black and Mrs. Helen E. Anderson of near Leislville.

Mrs. G. D. Bradley and daughter of Pickaway Township were Friday visitors in Circleville.

Mrs. Harley Lutz and daughter, Dorothy, of Whisler were Friday shoppers in Circleville.

Mrs. John Mast and family of Washington Township were Circleville visitors Friday.

Mrs. Sam Brinker of near Ashville was a Friday shopping visitor in Circleville.

Mrs. William Reid and Mrs. Hazel Friece of Frankfort were Circleville shoppers Friday.

Mrs. George Valentine of near Stoutsville was a Circleville visitor Friday.

Mrs. R. F. Traphagen of West Franklin Street is spending a few days with relatives in London and Mechanicsburg.

Mrs. Arthur Dunlap of Williamsport was a Circleville visitor Friday.

Mrs. David Dunlap of West Franklin Street spent Saturday in Columbus with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cole, and children.

Mrs. John H. Dunlap, Sr., of near Williamsport and Mrs. W. T. Uln of North Court Street attended a Republican rally and luncheon Friday at the Neil House, Columbus.

C. H. S. DEBATORS PLAN DISCUSSION

Samuel R. Johnson, debate coach, has announced that the debate club will hold a meeting Tuesday evening at 7:00. At this meeting, debaters will discuss the various aspects of the subject.

Lloyd Jonnes, Nelson Jonnes and Paul Turner will discuss negative view points and William Burget, Catherine Ramsey and Ned Stout will analyze the affirmative possibilities of the question: Resolved, "That the Power of the Federal Government Should Be Increased."

Any person who has not already enrolled in the club and is interested in this year's debate program should attend this meeting.

SCHEDULE MADE FOR ART CLASS

Art classes meet the third period on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs. Brunelle Downing is with them only on the latter day because at all other times she is directing art pupils in the various other city schools.

Martha Pile, Anne Sue Reichelderfer and Ned Stout meet on Wednesday during the fourth period. Three boys, David Orr, Thomas Shea and Robert Schumm are together every afternoon during the sixth period. Mrs. Downing says these boys are doing excellent work.

There are fourteen people in Mrs. Downing's high school art classes. These classes are at the present time studying creative design.

RESERVES WILL ENTERTAIN HI-Y

Boys of the Hi-Y club will be entertained by the Senior Girl Reserves on Tuesday, October 29, at a Weiner roast, followed by a treasure hunt and dance.

Betty Moeller will be general chairman. The food committee is Marcella Cunningham, Pollyanna Friedman, Emma Louise Howard, Margaret Boggs, Miriam Brown and Eleanor Weaver will serve on the treasure hunt committee.

Meeting was called to order by vice-president, Joan Downing. The girls discussed the wearing of ties and decided to carry the discussion over to the next meeting. The girls will attend the Lutheran Church Sunday; all will meet in front of the church at 10:00.

Betty Moeller presented a devotional meeting. Her topic was "The Certainty of God."

MUSICAL GROUP APPEARS TWICE THURSDAY NIGHT

Members of the high school band played for the football rally Thursday evening. Later they journeyed to Atlanta, where a fall festival was in full swing at the high school. A band concert under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein was a part of the evening's program.

The band is planning to participate in the Veterans of Foreign War Preparedness parade. This will start at one o'clock Sunday afternoon. The theme of the day's activities is to encourage military preparedness within the United States in case of a national emergency.

As usual, the band gave a display of marching formations at the Groveport game here, Friday night.

JUNIOR CLASS IS HOST AT DANCE IN SOCIAL ROOM

Friday night after the game the junior class sponsored a dance in the social room.

Janet Funk, chairman, William Burget, Dorothy Ann Dresbach and Bob Kline composed the committee in charge of preparations.

Dancing started immediately following the game and was open to the public. A recording machine was used with records furnished by various members of the class.

During the game the booth was again operated by the class. Margaret Boggs, (chairman), Maxine Betts, Miriam Brown, Barbara Caskey, Dorothy Cook and Marvene Henness sold refreshments, and Marcella Cunningham, Evelyn Garrett and Martha Hill did the cooking.

CLUB ORGANIZES FOR YEAR'S WORK

Sketch club was organized on Monday evening at 3:45 in the art room under the supervision of Mrs. Brunelle Downing. All the regular meeting will be at the same time and place throughout the school year.

In the club are Lois Madison, Anna Sue Reichelderfer, Peggy Moeller, Martha Pile, Anna Ruth Deffenbaugh, Barbara Helwage, Monna Lee Hanley.

Carolyn Herrmann, Ruth Melvin, Marjorie Trimmer, Gloria Wilson, Robert Schumm, Paul Seigwald, James Sensenbrenner, Lawrence Curl, Paul Helwage and Mark Schumm.

Although models have not yet been chosen, the club will be making real life sketches. Plans for the year are not yet definite, but Mrs. Downing hopes to have a party sometime during the winter to raise enough money for a picture which will be hung in the library.

EIGHT WILL FILL CLUB VACANCIES

To fill vacancies left in its membership by those graduating last year, the Hi-Y club Monday evening elected eight high school boys as new members. Prior to this meeting 25 boys filed applications for entrance into the group; Hi-Y club members decided to accept eight of these applicants, bringing the club's total membership to 30.

Of the 14 sophomore, five juniors and six seniors who sought the club's membership, the following eight were selected by club voting: Richard Clifton, Jack Goldsberry, Ross Kerr, Jack Lake, Roy Norris, David Orr, Robert Schumm, and Dudley Smallwood. Ralph Schumm heads the committee in charge of initiation plans for the new pledges, Monday evening.

Jack Beck is president of the local Hi-Y chapter with Paul Turner, vice-president; David Betz, treasurer; Robert Melvin, secretary; and Thomas Armstrong, faculty adviser, as his executive aides.

"BAREFOOT BOY"

A pay assembly lasting an hour and a half, was held Thursday at 10 a. m., for the pupils from the fifth grade through the twelfth. A full length motion picture, "Barefoot Boy", accompanied by two shorts, was shown to a full house.

This was the first program of its kind this year. Others will follow.

—Youth Movements . . . —GL
Many youth movements have taken place in the history of mankind ranging from Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts to the Children's Crusade. A few of them have been successful while most of them have failed. One of the former is the Youth Hostel association.

This summer I had my first association with the hostels which was very pleasant. By using the hostels, I was able to see all the north-east part of the United States for a small part of what it would have cost otherwise. Of course I did not travel in what most people would call luxury but I was always comfortable.

Most of the time I traveled with other hostellers. Only twice was I by myself. Once I reached Northfield, Massachusetts, the national headquarters. The movement while it is not yet very well known, is spreading rapidly and is very popular as evidenced in the fact that many hostellers have had more than 2,000 hostellers during the past summer.

A typical hostel is one where I stayed in Stowe, Vermont. The boys slept on hay-filled ticks. The kitchen has two gas stoves and a complete set of cooking utensils and dishes. Then a recreation room with ping-pong, checkers, cards, and the latest magazines, was provided. or outdoor recreation there were swimming, fishing, tennis, skiing and mountain-climbing. It was as good as a tourists' resort.

However, a loop of hostels cannot be established by just having hostels chartered. There must be people to use them. For a dollar a day you can travel in best approved hostel style. This is cheaper than you can live at home. That is an outstanding point of the hostel system.

So for the above reasons I believe that hosting is a very good way of spending one's vacation and has a highly deserved spot in any history of youth movements.

VICE-PRESIDENT LEADS MEETING

In the absence of President Florence Dresbach, Julia Jane Work, vice-president, presided at the Junior Girl Reserve meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Viola Arledge, treasurer gave a report on the candy sale, the profit being $5.40.

This year the Junior Girl Reserves will sell refreshments on the football field during the Bremen game on Wednesday night and during the band contest on Thursday night of Pumpkin Show.

On Wednesday, refreshments will be sold by Julia Jane Work, chairman and her committee composed of Avonelle Bosworth, Joan Bowers, Rosemary Brown, Gloria Dean, Annette Donahoe, Doris Hendricks, Ann Hott, Ann McGinnis, Martha Pile, Anna Sue Reichelderfer, Gloria Reid and Bette Waters.

Thursday night, Carolyn Herrmann will be in charge and her committee consists of Rosemary Brown, Fedella Cooper, Mary Crites, Florence Dresbach, Mary Ellen Fissell, Monna Lee Hanley, Barbara Helwage, Ann Hott, Ruth Melvin, Anna Sue Reichelderfer and Bette Waters.

Rosemary Brown told the girls that she would order the club pins.

Monna Lee Hanley announced that the girls will attend the Lutheran church this Sunday.

TOURNAMENT PLANNED

Freshman, sophomore, junior and senior girls' physical education classes have begun practice for the volleyball tournament which will be played in the near future. The games will be played in groups and not in classes as they have been previously.

Miss Elma Rains and Miss Eleanor Ryan are the girls' gym instructors.

STOOGES DIVIDE WORK FOR YEAR MAJOR PROSPECT

At the meeting Tuesday night, Stooges made plans for the booth which the club operates at Pumpkin Show. Richard Brintlinger, Thomas Dewey, Jack Imier, Clark Martin and William Thornton have painted and repaired the booth.

During the meeting Robert Brown, president, appointed various committees to carry on the work next week.

Jack Beck, Robert Brown, Thomas Dewey, Frank Geib and Clark Martin (chairman) will move the booth from the high school grounds to the corner of Court and Main Streets.

Robert Goeller, David Orr, and William Thornton will provide the equipment to be used.

Robert Brown, Harry Clifton, Thomas Dewey and Robert Goeller comprise the food committee. They will be in charge of planning the menus, and purchasing and preparing the food.

Further business at this week's meeting included reading and explaining the club's constitution to the new members who were present for the first time.

Meeting next week will be at Jack Beck's.

BOOKS OFFERED TO C. H. S. PUPILS

When the word "exploring" is mentioned, one immediately thinks of fighting his way through unknown dangers and dark jungles to discover rare treasures.

It is impossible for us without knowledge of exploration to travel the path of an explorer. However, it is not impossible for us of Circleville high school to read books about far away places.

The book, "Cannibal Land", written by Martin Johnson, is a true account of Mr. Johnson's experiences in the unknown parts of New Hebrides in the South Seas. Today, in our modern and civilized country, we cannot imagine people living in a manner as ancient as the Stone Age, but it is vividly brought to life for us in this recent book.

"This Business of Exploring" was written by Roy Chapman Andrews. Mr. Andrews went exploring in Mongolia in 1930.

While traveling he took photographs of various rare sights and made notes of his experiences until he had enough material for a book. He tells what exploring really is. This book is especially good because it is so well written about a subject which is difficult to make interesting.

William Beebe fans will be interested to know that there is a new book in the library by him. It is "Exploring With Beebe."

Because most of this author's books are for adults and are not easy for boys and girls to comprehend, Beebe has condensed his more popular chapters into one book for young boys and girls. In it are accounts of his most exciting moments of explorations.

"Firecracker Land" is not a new book to C. H. S. students. However there is a new copy of this favorite book. It was written by Florence Ayscough and it is the story of her childhood in China.

Miss Ayscough describes the true beauty of the Chinese people and their unusual customs. It seems strange to us that the Chinese should be great lovers of poetry.

Many people believe that it is impossible to travel without money. Harry A. Frank proves that this is not true in his "A Vagabond Journey Around the World." Mr. Frank circled the globe with only $104.00 and a camera. This book should be an inspiration to young men who wish some day to travel.

Visit your library and explore!

FOUR STUDENTS JOIN ORCHESTRA

C. F. Zaenglein announces that four new members have joined the high school orchestra. They are Grant Carothers, clarinet; Jack Miller, saxophone; Howard Moore, trombone; and James Morrison, drums.

These replacements do not fill the vacant spots in the violin section left by recent graduates. Mr. Zaenglein said that the vacancies can be taken care of if the violin players practice harder this year.

At the practice, Tuesday, the orchestra tried out new music books. These books contain marches and eight classics. Mr. Zaenglein has not yet decided whether or not they will keep them.

McGINNIS FARM PREPARED FOR CORN HUSKERS

A sixty acre corn field on the McGinnis farm, one mile east of Circleville, was being prepared for invasion by Pickaway County's best corn huskers, who will vie Monday for the county corn husking championship.

The shock contest will begin at 10 a. m. and the stalk contest at 1 p. m. Agricultural officials report that the corn, U. S. 13, is in ideal condition for husking, and expect records to be broken during the event.

Last year's winners in both the shock corn and the stalk corn, Paul Winn, New Holland, and Orlan Schooley, Pickaway Township, respectively, will be among the contestants this year. F. K. Blair, county agricultural agent, has reported. Lawrence Wright, Ashville, winner in the state shock corn event two years ago, will also be in the contest.

Winners in the county contest will go to the Alexander farm, Marion County, for the state contest on October 23 and 24.

Anthony Fyolker invented and built the synchronized airplane machine gun in 48 hours, although he never had handled a machine gun before.

Questions And Answers Concerning U. S. Draft

Q. If I am taking a transcontinental trip on Wednesday, or otherwise am unable to get to a registration place, how do I sign up?

A. If you can show a good reason why you didn't register Wednesday, you may sign up before your local board subsequently. Mere inconvenience, however, will not be considered a "good reason."

Q. How do I register if I am sick?

A. If you are sick at home, someone should go to the registration place for you and be deputized as a registrant to sign you up. If you are sick at a hospital, a registrant will visit you there.

Q. What about men who are out of the country?

A. They are to register at their local boards within five days after they return.

Q. How can I volunteer?

A. You may notify your local draft authorities anytime on registration day or afterwards that you wish to volunteer. You will then be classified ahead of others, and if you pass muster will be assigned to the army.

Q. May I go to court if I am dissatisfied with my classification?

A. You may carry the matter to court only on a writ of habeas corpus after you have actually been inducted.

Washington Merry-Go Round

which it had been so dependent, economic chaos would follow together with the same policy applied in Mexico—expropriation.

JOINED WITH LOCAL MONEY

So young Rockefeller began working on the idea of diversifying Venezuela's industries and diversifying them on a partnership basis. In other words, instead of merely bringing more American capital to Venezuela, he set up a company in which local money, joined with him in building a hotel in Caracas to be operated jointly by American and Venezuelan directors.

This is one of Rockefeller's objectives as coordinator of Latin American affairs on the defense council—namely, to set up corporations in which Latin American capital will mix with American money, in contrast to the old practice of Yankee exploitation with Yankee dollars.

"There is no point," says Rockefeller, "in trying to tug the Latins to our side in a tug of war with the Germans. What we want to do is help them in developing economic independence. They have fought for economic independence before and they can do it again. In that fight, we are with them."

This is a point on which the State Department and Mr. Rockefeller see eye to eye. Actually, the State Department, under the far-sighted Good Neighbor policy devised by Sumner Welles, already had joined U. S. and Brazilian capital to build a new steel mill in Brazil.

ROCKEFELLER AIDES

When Bill Knudsen, Edward Stettinius and other moguls of the National Defense Commission go to the White House every Thursday to report on defense progress, Nelson Rockefeller goes with them. However, it would take a long stretch of the imagination to bring under "Defense" the full scope of Rockefeller's ambitious plans for closer friendship below the Rio Grande.

To accomplish this, he has brought into his office one of the most diversified groups of experts recently seen in Washington. It includes:

WILL CLAYTON—of the cotton merchandising firm of Clayton and Anderson, who tangled with AAA crop control in the early New Deal days, turned in disgust to Brazil and has now taught the Brazilians to grow more cotton and gin it better.

JOSEPH C. ROVENSKY—vice president of the Chase National Bank and one of the experts on German currency and barter trade, the chief type of competition which the United States faces in South America.

ROBERT G. CALDWELL—dean of humanities at Massachusetts Institute of Technology; born in Bogota and former Minister to Portugal and Bolivia. He will handle Rockefeller's cultural relations.

CARL SPEATH—a classmate of Rockefeller's at Dartmouth, who later handled much of his work in Venezuela and is now his personal assistant.

A. V. CORY—a geologist from Butte, Montana, with active mining experiences in Brazil and Argentina.

HENRY A. MOE—formerly of the Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, who will now direct the division of scholarship for Rockefeller, a most important job if there is to be real interchange of students in the Western Hemisphere.

REAL GOOD NEIGHBORLINESS

The group also includes Treasury expert Simon G. Hansen; newsmen John Clark, in charge of press relations; George (Ben) Franklin, secretary to Rockefeller;

SCHOOLS TO CONDUCT POETRY DAY EXERCISES

Pickaway County schools will observe Ohio Poetry Day, October 18, with special appreciation programs featuring Ohio poets and Ohio poetry. County School Superintendent George D. McDowell, has announced.

The day has been designated by an act of the Legislature as the occasion for the special observance and study of poetry in the public schools. A state-wide celebration will be held at Fort Hayes Hotel, Columbus, Friday evening with Dr. Dwight Nelson Robinson of Ohio Wesleyan University, as speaker.

Officers of the Ohio Poetry Day Committee include the Rev. Frank D. Harris, Columbus, president; Tessa Sweazy Webb, Columbus, vice-president; Mary Stok Adler, Columbus, secretary and Fred Keller Dix, Prospect, treasurer.

DARBY TWP. SCHOOL NEWS

Darby Township School News
The seventh and eighth grade boys enjoyed a ball game with the Harrisburg boys. They came out on top with a score of 7 to 8.

The Athletic Association sponsored a movie, "Barefoot Boy", starring Ralph Morgan and Jackie Moran.

Basketball practice was begun for the boys on Monday. Many boys are competing for a place on the squad, and we hope to see a good team out against Jackson, November 15, on their floor.

The Senior Class had a class party Friday night, as did the Sophomores.

School was not in session Friday because of a break in the water pump.

And it's Zadok Dumbkopf who thinks it would be especially appropriate for American to celebrate Thanksgiving on Columbus Day—for obvious reasons.

and Arthur Ballantine, Jr., son of the former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Many of these men speak Spanish, some even speak Portuguese. They are young, enthusiastic, tireless in their effort to do a real job of good neighborliness in Latin America, and in the end should be able to smooth out friction with the State Department.

Real fact is that the State Department's political policy in Latin America has been the most successful and judiciously handled in years. But the Department has neither the personnel nor the time to concentrate on commercial and cultural relations as much as the present emergency requires.

So if a harmonious partnership can be worked out with the energetic Rockefeller—a partnership which sometimes is difficult in an administration in which personalities play such a dominant role—then the Good Neighbor policy really should go places in Latin America.

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, October 12
RAPID developments of an exciting and drastic force may be looked for on this day under the impetus of a high acceleration of planetary operations. Especially does all relating to writing, publishing, advertising and promotional enterprises move with swift and far reaching effect on perhaps lagging or static situations.

Those whose birthday it is assured of a lively year with much swift action if not drastic events in business, new contracts, and all manner of promotions. Particularly under high stimuli will be mental work, fresh plans.

A child born on this day should be exceedingly talented and versatile, the brilliant intellect, fitting it for a professional career.

For Sunday October 13

SUNDAY's horoscope is moderately propitious for all ecclesiastical and community affairs, which move happily and profitably. However, the mind may be trend toward some conflicting or over-inflated ideas, which had best be submitted to sound considerations before putting grand

Ten Lines Of Water Poured On Fire; Factory Halted During Danger

A straw rick fire that threatened at times to get out of control was discovered at 4:45 a. m. Saturday at the Circleville plant of the Container Corporation of America. The baled straw, torn from the rick by firefighters and company employes, continued to smoulder throughout the day with firemen standing on duty to prevent any spread of the flames.

Ten lines of hose were stretched from various hydrants on the company's property to pour an endless stream of water into the burning rick. Water was being pumped from the city mains into the company's lines.

Strawboard employes said that Bernard Bailey, a fellow worker, discovered the blaze as he looked from a window of the building. They believed that the rick had been burning, undoubtedly from spontaneous combustion, for the last several days, the fire starting in the middle of the big rick. Shortly after Bailey discovered the flames a tongue of fire 40 feet high broke from the bottom of the rick almost in the middle of the pile of straw.

Employes Called The fire alarm sounded a few minutes after five o'clock and a moment later the strawboard whistle blared out, calling plant employes to their stations and wakening almost the entire city to inform it that a fire was raging at the Container Corporation.

Firemen and the company's workers started to pour water into the rick and on adjoining ricks as soon as they reached the scene. It was a few minutes after 6:30 before Fire Chief Talmer Wise said that he believed the danger of the flames spreading to other ricks had passed. The fact that scarcely any breeze was blowing helped the firefighters in their work. Volunteer workers were posted high on top nearby ricks to beat out any sparks that might fly from the burning straw.

Firemen started to make progress in their fight when the rick started to cave in, many of the flaming bales of straw being pulled away and well soaked. Hosehandlers and spectators who crowded too close to the rick were forced to leap back to escape being struck.

Clayton Moorehead, West Water Street, was taken to Berger Hospital about 10 a. m. Saturday suffering from chest injuries after falling from a truck. He has several broken ribs, Dr. H. D. Jackson, who treated him, said. Moorehead had reached for a bale of straw, helping to tear down the burning rick, when he lost his balance and fell.

He is a Container Corporation employe.

Another casualty was Fireman Noble Barr who suffered a sprained ankle. Whether he was hit by a bale or turned the ankle is uncertain.

Loss Not Determined

The amount of loss to the Container Corporation has not yet been determined. Just how much of the straw in the rick was damaged is not known. There are about 800 tons of straw in a rick, the straw being valued at about $8 a ton by the time it is purchased and ricked.

It is estimated that the straw yard at the plant contains 28,000 tons of straw, the largest amount on the lot in the last 10 years.

Plant operation was halted shortly after the fire broke out because of the need for water to fight the flames.

Company employes said that the rick must have been burning deep inside for the last several days, the flames enveloping the middle of the rick as soon as they reached air.

All of the city's firemen and nearly all members of the police department were on hand during the flames, as were all the Container plant's officials and employes.

As Circleville firemen fought flames from a burning straw rick behind the Container Corporation plant Saturday at 6 a. m., a false alarm was turned in from the Scioto and Ohio Street intersection. The city fire truck, at the Container plant, but not in use at the time, answered the call.

They established tent camps, their appearance caused a sensation. Eight high-ranking German army and aviation officers reached Bucharest and 35 others were expected to arrive shortly.

At Galatz on the Danube River delta, where 2,000 regular German troops were reported stationed, a German colonel-general made an aerial inspection of the region to establish military "instruction" sites. Twenty-four German transport ships which sailed down the Danube were counted at Galatz.

At Constanza, where some of the British diplomats were staying, preparations were under way to receive a several hundred Italian technicians and instructors to supervise the construction of an airport and seaplane base at nearby Mamaia.

When the German Italian planes flew over Bucharest, it was explained that they were "training types" and were flown by Romanian pilots stationed at the Brasov flying school.

Great quantities of German war equipment, including tanks and planes, were reported moving into Romania along with officers and soldiers at railroad and aboard barges moving down the Danube.

Turkey and Greece were regarded as the eventual objectives of the German moves.

ONE IN 250,000 CINCINNATI, O. — "One in 250,000" is the description surgeons gave to 14-year-old Harley Busam. Taken to a hospital for an appendectomy, an examination disclosed that Harley's heart was on the right side of his chest, his appendix on the left side of the abdominal cavity and all other internal organs transposed. Surgeons said such cases probably occur not more than once in 250,000.

ing dependents whether the dependent was trained in any trade, whether he or she had ever worked, and what was the condition of that person's health.

All of those questions were stricken out by the draft board's advisory committee, headed by Dr. Frederick Osborn.

Boiled down to cases, selective service officials said, the deletion means that if someone is dependent on a registrant that fact will be accepted as sufficient and no attempt will be made to discover whether the dependent might be capable of earning a living.

Eight Pages Used Publication of the questionnaire—which has been held down to only eight pages as compared with 16 in the World War form—came as draft headquarters moved rapidly to bring its machinery into final working order.

Medical officials said the instructions to physicians who will examine registrants were now "virtually complete."

Quota figures showing the number of men each state and locality probably will be called on to supply are to be released over the week end.

Captain Gareth Brainerd, chief of the field section, announced that 1,000,000 registrars had been appointed and that "all was in readiness" for the signing up of the men.

The army, meanwhile, made public its list of reception centers, where all those called up will go for the first few days, and its replacement centers, where they will receive their preliminary training.

Dr. Osborn said that the questionnaire was confined to getting information needed to select trainees, adding that "we have successfully resisted all pressure to get us to put in other questions."

The form consists of 13 series of questions. Those on identification, physical condition, and education are simple statements covering those subjects.

Then come "occupation" and "other occupational experience" and "agricultural occupation." These are rather detailed, asking how much money the registrant earns, just what he does and who he works for. If one is seeking occupational deferment, he may enclose a statement from his employer.

The questions on dependency asks for the names of all claimed dependents, how much money the registrant has contributed to them, and how much they have earned. The registrant is instructed to list unborn children.

Other questions are for ministers and divinity students, for conscientious objectors, for those with military service, for students and others in a legally deferred class. Others inquire into citizenship and court records.

pressing for more and more speed in building up national defenses, yet leaving behind him a confident prediction that the United States will "be able to avoid being brought into war."

"But I believe, and I think most of you do, too, that the best way to avoid an attack is to be ready to meet one," the President told a cheering station crowd of some 35,000 at Akron last night.

Mr. Roosevelt's current and hectic two-day swing through Pennsylvania and Ohio for the first time in the 1940 presidential campaign brought reminiscences of his highly successful effort in 1936, when crowds literally poured themselves into the streets and railway stations to shout and cheer.

Pittsburgh turned out with a throng that was anybody's guess from a quarter of a million up; Youngstown produced what officials termed the largest crowd ever assembled in the downtown area. Akron jammed the railroad right of way to capacity, and lesser sized towns in both states sent hopeful thousands to the railroad yards who never saw Mr. Roosevelt at all, because he didn't appear.

Theme of tonight's speech in Dayton probably was dropped when the President told the Akron crowd:

"You and I know the difficulties and the dangers of these times in the world. For many years we in the United States have managed to keep out of trouble in other continents and I am confident that in the future we shall be able to avoid being brought into war through attack by somebody else on us."

ARMY, CORNELL PLAY

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 12 — Additional grandstand seats were in place today the game was a complete sell out as Cornell's mighty Red Raiders met the Army cadets in renewal of a rivalry that had lapsed since 1907. A crowd of 27,000 was assured for the Cadets' main home attractions of the season. The army had its strongest possible lineup available, but was a one-sided under dog against the Raiders, who were undefeated last season and easy winners over Colgate last Saturday in this year's inaugural. Army barely managed to eke out a one-point win over little Williams in its opener.

AXIS PACT

enemies of half of Europe, the Russian czar dispatched two fleets to both of our coasts that made both England and France hesitate in pushing their open aid to the Confederacy. American opinion of the Russian action brought the popularity of the czar to a high pitch.

And today, even though the czars have given away to the Communists, some U. S. government officials believe that Russia once more can provide our threatened land with similar moral and physical support. It is pointed out that the United States and Soviet Russia both fear Japan and favor China; both fear the increasing aggression of the Triple Axis against their own safety.

More Respect It is no longer the fashion for military opinion in America and Britain to sneer at Russian war might. In fact, U. S. army men months ago paid their respect to the enormous difficulties the Russians encountered in the Finnish campaign—winter weather and the Mannerheim line—the latter admittedly better fortified than even the highly touted Maginot line.

Today the Red army, navy and air force may be the only great armed force that could stalemate or even defeat the Axis juggernaut. With more than four million trained men under arms, 15 million reserves, swarms of civilian male and female sharpshooters, Soviet Russia, neutral military observers feel, would be a valuable ally for any belligerent to possess. Long before Hitler came to power, the Reds had the largest air force in the world, and some sources claim they still possess more planes than the Nazi Luftwaffe.

German military men have long admitted they learned about mechanized warfare from Russia. From their Communist neighbor, the Nazis borrowed tank tactics, parachute soldiers, bombs like "Molotov breadbaskets." The Red air force has been the only outfit to transport heavy guns and ready-to-fight tanks by plane. German observers, like Col. Mettsch of the Potsdam Military college, has pointed out that experiments with chemical warfare in Russia have outdistanced the world.

Because U. S. defense keeps one eye permanently on the Far East a glance at the Asiatic Red army is of interest. Stalin has upwards of 500,000 of his best soldiers garrisoned in Siberia, flanking

Today's Menu

THE SECRET of a success with meat pie is a tender crust, meat and vegetables well cooked and well seasoned. You can use left-over roast or meat cooked especially for the pie, but cook it until it is very tender, and season well.

Today's Menu
Meat Pie Sliced Tomatoes
Creamed Turnips
Snow Pudding Tea

Meat Pie
Crust 1 tsp. salt
2 cups flour 1 tsp. baking
¾ cup lard or powder
shortening Cold water
Sift flour with salt and baking powder, add lard and work thoroughly through flour mixture. Add cold water a little at a time until mixture holds together, using just as little water as possible. Roll out, fold over double, make slits to allow steam to escape and cover dish containing meat mixture. Bake at 400 degrees F. until crust is brown.

Biscuit Crust
2 cups flour 4 tsp. baking
4 tsp. shortening powder
1 egg Milk to make
1 tsp. salt soft dough
Sift flour with salt and baking powder, add shortening and work thoroughly through flour mixture. Add milk to make soft dough that can be rolled out. Roll to ½ inch thickness and top meat mixture in baking dish, making slits in crust to allow steam to escape. Bake at 400 degrees until crust is thoroughly baked and brown.

Meat Mixture
Cut meat into 1-inch cubes, cover with water or thinned gravy, cook meat until very tender, adding small onions or large ones cut in pieces, and small carrots or cubed large carrots during last 20 minutes of cooking. Season well with pepper and salt and put into baking dish. Cover with crust and bake. Potatoes may be cooked with other vegetables if you wish, cutting them in small pieces before adding. Be sure meat mixture has sufficient gravy and is not dry.

Snow Pudding
3 tbsps. corn- 2 tbsps. pow-
starch dered sugar
2 cups boiling Juice and water grated rind 1
Whites 3 eggs lemon

Dissolve cornstarch in a little cold water, pour on boiling water, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites with powdered sugar beaten with them, add lemon juice and grated rind.

Wet a mold, pour in pudding and steam for 20 minutes. Serve cold with following sauce:

Sauce
Yolks 3 eggs 1 cup milk
1 cup sugar 1 tsp. butter
Beat egg yolks add sugar creamed with butter, add milk and cook until like thin custard. Serve cold over pudding.

Whether boiling water is simmering or bubbling furiously it is always of the same temperature—212 degrees.
